

honor History

The main house of the Grimm-Schultz Farmstead was built by Henry Grimm for his wife, Caroline Graff, and family in 1875, although the second floor, central lintel notes 1880 as the year completed. The property is located one-half mile southwest of the former railroad town of Volland, Kansas and 8 miles southwest of Alma, Kansas.

In 2020, the Farmstead was added to the National Register of Historic Places.

celebrate Today

The mission of the Grimm-Schultz Farmstead is to provide a warm, welcoming family home where small groups can meet to plan, work, and grow together.

The Farmstead has a gracious main house with meeting rooms for up to a dozen people to sit at a dining room table in the parlor as well as smaller rooms on the ground floor for private conversations.

Whether your event is 6 people for a private retreat, or a catered feast followed by live music for 50+ people, we can work with you. Tell us about what you've been dreaming up, and let's make it happen!
